

Global Security Challenges

A View from Down Under

Purdue Policy Research Institute (PPRI), in partnership with the Office of Global Partnerships (OGP), is proud to host Professor John Blaxland, one of Australia's leading experts on international security, intelligence, and Indo-Pacific strategy. His keynote, Global Security Challenges: A View from Down Under, explores how today's strategic challenges, from great power competition to climate disruption and technological transformation, appear when viewed through an Australian lens in the Indo-Pacific. It's a timely opportunity for students and faculty to engage with the perspective of a close U.S. ally navigating the evolving poly-crisis and gain insights on how to think critically outside the U.S. perspective.

register here

Thursday, October 2

4:30 - 6:00 | DLR 134

Program begins at 4:30.
Meet and greet with light refreshments to follow.

Australian Consulate-General

Chicago, USA

Purdue Policy Research Institute