Workplace Safety & Health Co. Inc. is a leading provider of industrial hygiene, safety, and risk management services; industrial hygiene and safety data management; and occupational safety training courses. Our mission is to provide our clients with premier occupational safety and health services designed to reduce workplace injuries and illnesses, which promotes client profitability.

We are seeking an entry to mid-level industrial hygienist/safety professional to join our team of consultants to serve local, regional and national clients. Client sectors served include automotive, pharmaceutical, warehousing, foundries and steel mills, food and beverage manufacturing and more.

Typical projects may include air monitoring, noise monitoring, lockout-tagout assessments, confined space surveys, qualitative exposure assessments, asbestos and lead-based paint surveys, heat stress monitoring, illumination surveys, indoor air quality investigations, and associated technical report writing. Up to 40% to 60% travel is required at times.

Requirements

- B.S. degree or higher in industrial hygiene, safety, engineering, environmental or related sciences.
- 2+ years of IH and/or safety experience preferred, but strong candidates with less experience will be considered.
- Basic knowledge of OSHA regulations and IH sampling procedures.
- Strong organizational and report writing skills are a must.
- Good computer skills including Word, Excel and PowerPoint.
- Ability to walk through large industrial or construction sites.
- Asbestos and/or Lead Inspector/Risk Assessor licensing are a plus.

The Inside Track: Knowledge of mechanical systems; ability to deliver face-to-face presentations or training courses, and/or the ability to sell yourself and the company to current or prospective clients will give prospective job candidates a distinct advantage.

Workplace Safety & Health Company offers a competitive wage and benefits package within an environment that promotes opportunities for advancement. If you are a team player with great technical and customer service skills, we would like to hear from you!
