Choose your next career as an independent sales representative for Stine® Seed Company!

Grow both professionally and financially with one of the industry’s most respected corn and soybean seed companies. Stine is experiencing significant growth and is seeking to add independent sales representatives (ISRs) throughout the country.

As an ISR, you’ll have support from one of the nation’s leading seed brands and so much more…

WHAT WE OFFER:
- Unlimited earning potential
- Flexibility to work your territory and accounts your way
- A 50-year reputation of cultivating top-tier products with outstanding traits
- Agronomic and sales support from Stine’s reputable team of agronomists and sales experts
- Freedom to operate, with support from the industry’s most influential breeding companies

OUR IDEAL CANDIDATE IS SOMEONE WHO:
- Has a passion for agriculture
- Appreciates having the opportunity to deliver top-tier solutions to customers
- Has the desire to represent a growing national brand
- Wants flexibility but with the support of a successful organization

And remember, as a part of the Stine team, you would be affiliated with the largest privately held corn and soybean breeding and marketing company in the world. This family-run operation has a strong history that has significantly impacted the industry and continues to shape its future. If you’re looking to join forces with a company with the largest and most influential corn and soybean breeding programs, a patent-producing biotech division and a strong, well-supported sales team to deliver top-tier genetics and traits to growers in your area, inquire today.

For more information, visit stineseed.com/becomeanISR.