Internship Announcement: Swine Research Project Intern

JBS United is excited about its upcoming year and is looking for a highly motivated individual with a strong desire to participate in research projects at our research facilities in Indiana during summer, 2017! Working as a contributing and positive team player will be a key attribute that we will seek in the candidate for this great opportunity.

Our internships offer fantastic opportunities to participate and learn from a prestigious team of top swine research scientists and professionals. You will be learning skills that will broaden not only your research acumen, but your analytical capacity that will support your future studies and career path. We want someone who has high attention to detail, who is an effective written and verbal communicator, and who has the ability to perform the physical activity required of a commercial swine production facility and laboratory research center.

If you are selected, you will learn about foundational experimental design and the importance of research detail conducted on research farms. You will work within a confined hog operation and maintain stringent biosecurity procedures established by JBS United. Knowledge gained by conducting research in swine production facilities will be valuable upon graduation. We take pride that our internships can always lead to a great career with JBS United upon graduation!

The intern will be located at our corporate office in Sheridan, IN with frequent travel within 30 miles to provide oversight and participation in key research projects. We offer competitive pay and a housing stipend. If you have a passion for a swine career, are a self-starter, and want to work with a winning team, we want you in 2017!

JBS United, Inc. is a global premier animal nutrition and health innovator involved in feed production and additives, swine and dairy production and management, and agricultural technology. Founded in 1956, JBS United operates 6 feed plants in the U.S.

Application Deadline: November 1, 2016 at midnight

Interested candidates must submit an online application (at jbsunited.com), cover letter, and a resume, including 3 references. The applicant should address the following:

- Why should you be selected for the JBS United internship program?
- How are you involved within the Agriculture Sector?
- What value can you bring to JBS United?
- What are your future career intentions within the animal production industry?

Candidates will be notified late November 2016.

Any questions or concerns can be directed to: hr@jbsunited.com