Wrap-up

Posted: 03 Aug 2012 11:56 PM PDT

This last week has consisted of a lot of wrapping things up. Here are just a few things.

Leonard, one of the IU House guards, has been interested in producing biomass briquettes and I have been working with him while I've been here. He's now built a press and has started making briquettes. His wife has been using them and he has been having neighbors try them.

One of the IU House neighbors has 3 giant tortoises!

This is part of the reorganized handy-man workshop that I've helped with a bit.
