

Summer School 2017

“International Refrigeration and Compressor Course“

Within the framework of a new Summer Course an excellent preparation for a future profession in the field of refrigeration and compressors is offered based on an international surrounding and global teams.

German and American students will attend 2 weeks of residential instruction:

- June 3rd to 10th, 2017 in Dresden and Rottenburg (Germany)
- August 12th – 19th, 2017 at Purdue University, Indiana (USA)

In between the residential instruction weeks, work on a project in teams of American and German students via digital media and present the work at Purdue, USA!

Discover interesting lectures, excursions and laboratory work in the fields of energy and process technology, investigation of physical property and environmental protection with the application in refrigeration and compressor technology!

The number of participants is limited!

Your application should include a short CV with a picture and a short letter of motivation.

Application deadline is January 31st 2017.

For further questions and your application please contact:

orkan@purdue.edu, +1 765 494 1604