

Preparing for Graduate School through Undergraduate Research!

The session will include:

- The importance of research experience in preparing for graduate school
- Details regarding the Summer Research Opportunity Program (SROP)
- Examples of research projects

M | RACKHAM GRADUATE SCHOOL
UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

Thursday, December 4, 2025
2:00-3:00 PM ET

Thinking about graduate school in 2027, 2028 or beyond? Considering your summer opportunities? This is a great time to think about pursuing research! Research experience, especially for PhD programs, is critical for competitive graduate school applications, and organizing and creating an undergraduate research opportunity can take time. Come to Michigan ECE's information session to learn about the importance of research and how it can be great preparation for graduate programs!