

Summary

The 2014 Civil Engineering Study Abroad was hosted by Bechtel at three different London Crossrail project sites. The Crossrail is a new 73-mile railway line serving London and the surrounding areas. The Crossrail project is expected to cost over £14.8 billion when it is completed in 2018. The students visited a tunneling site near Canning Town, the downtown Bond Street Station, and the suburban Reading Station outside of London to get an overview of the project.
