

Hands-on Training

Developing Proposals: Problem Statements & Organization

With Lynne Dahmen– Managing Director, C4E

The Center for the Environment is pleased to offer a hands-on training session to interested affiliated faculty and post-docs wishing to increase their effectiveness in developing grant proposals with interdisciplinary teams.

Lynne Dahmen, Managing Director of the Center, has over ten years grant development experience working with faculty on proposals submitted to most major granting agencies. She will lead this hand-on workshop covering the following topics:

- Aligning ideas to calls
- Developing effective interdisciplinary teams
- Structuring proposals
- Tips and tricks for writing

No previous experience needed. No proposals needed. Come ready to work!

Thursday, 3/12

11:30-1:30 PM

Whistler 116

Lunch provided

Register here!

For more information, contact the Center for the Environment at: environment@purdue.edu or visit: <https://www.purdue.edu/discoverypark/environment/>

