Professor Sorin Adam Matei of the Brian Lamb School of Communication at Purdue University will facilitate this workshop on network analysis. Matei is also Associate Dean of Research and Graduate Education for the College of Liberal Arts where he coordinates research efforts in funding, information, and innovation. He studies the relationship between information technology, group behavior, and social structures in a variety of contexts. He will demonstrate network analysis and talk about ways to integrate this form of analysis with the C-SPAN Video Library.
